A Monthly Publication of RAE

April 2022

Notes from Beneath the Blue Awning

Hello, UWF!

Like so many of you, I was excited to drop in on the 2022 Student Scholars Symposium last week to marvel at the fruits of the University's labors in the forms of performances, showcases, presentations, and posters. Congratulations to all of you who served as mentors for these examples of student excellence.

At this time of year, we are surrounded by the inspirational culminations of our day-by-day, year-by-year engagements: degrees conferred, creative activities unveiled, scholarly products shared, honors awarded, and new graduates launched to their next destination. Each of those products started with an initial engagement, and all must be celebrated.

I hope that each of you makes time to recognize, and celebrate, your contributions to all these milestones.

As you reflect on this year's successes, I encourage you to also take some time to dream big about what you would like to be celebrating at this time next year and consider if external funding can enhance your teaching; service; or research, scholarly, and creative activities. If so, RAE can help you with grant prospecting, the process by which you look for funding opportunities to match your needs or ideas, via engagement with our experts at Hanover Research or helping you navigate GrantForward.

Best wishes for the rest of the term and the end of the academic year.

Regards,

Matt Schwartz

P.S. See you at Commencement on May 7!

New publications

The Office of Research Administration and Engagement congratulates the following researchers for their recent publications.

- Dr. Valerie Morganson and Kenzie J. Hurley for their article "Stuck in Stockholm: An Empirical Examination of Sexual Harassment and Stockholm Syndrome in Relation to Essential and Non-essential Workers during the COVID-19 Pandemic" in the Journal of Sexual Aggression.

If you or your students have a recent publication you'd like to see highlighted here, please contact Jeffrey Cassady at jcassady@uwf.edu. Be sure to include the researchers' names, the title of the paper, the name of the journal in which it appears, and a link to the publication or an abstract. Also, please identify any co-authors who are University of West Florida students, faculty, or staff members.

Subscribe to the CASSH and CEPS newsletters.

GrantForward: Sign up with your UWF account to search funding opportunities and receive personalized recommendations.
