3.1.1. See Table 2.1 through Table 2.4, as supplemented, for wear of the aiguillette with blue and battle dress uniforms. Note: Wear of the ceremonial aiguillette is optional with mess dress, semiformal, and service dress. The aiguillette is worn grounded on the left shoulder seam.

3.1.1.1. (Added) When in BDUs, Air Force students enrolled in Phase I and Phase II of DoD-sponsored physician assistant training will wear Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC)/Officer Training School (OTS)-style rank insignia. Phase I students will wear one silver bar on a black background. Phase II students will wear two silver bars on a black background.

3.1.1.2. (Added) When wearing the blue service uniform, Air Force students enrolled in Phase I and Phase II of the DoD-sponsored physician assistant training will wear OTS-style shoulder board insignia similar to that worn by candidates at OTS. Phase I students will wear black shoulder boards with a 1/2-inch silver braid attached 1/4 inch from the board’s lateral edge. Phase II student shoulder boards will have a second silver braid spaced 1/4 inch from the first braid. The change to Phase II insignia occurs upon graduation from Phase I. Soft shoulder boards are worn with long- and short-sleeved blue shirts. Hard shoulder boards are worn with the service dress, lightweight blue jacket, and raincoat. The officer cap is worn without insignia.

3.1.1.3. (Added) Pararescue (PJ), combat control (CCT), tactical air control party (TACP), combat rescue officer (CRO), and special tactics officer (STO) cadre uniforms will be worn as prescribed in Table 3.11 (Added) of this supplement. This table does not mandate the purchase or wear of specialized clothing items, but allows unit commanders to purchase specialized clothing to support specific training requirements.

3.1.1.4. (Added) PJ, CCT, CRO, and STO cadre uniforms will be worn as prescribed in Table 3.12 (Added) of this supplement. This table does not mandate the purchase or wear of specialized clothing items, but allows unit commanders to purchase specialized clothing to support specific training requirements.

3.1.1.5. (Added) Survival, evasion, resistance, and escape (SERE) uniforms will be worn as prescribed in Table 3.13 (Added) of this supplement. This table does not mandate the purchase or wear of specialized clothing items, but allows unit commanders to purchase specialized clothing to support specific training requirements.

3.1.1.6. (Added) Flight duty uniform (FDU) will be worn as prescribed in Table 3.14 (Added) of this supplement.

3.2.5.2. The FDU/desert FDU and DuPont™ Nomex® style flight jackets name tags may have a small design or emblem, such as a logo or aircraft. Aerospace physiology (4M0X1) personnel are authorized to wear the enlisted medical and/or aerospace badges on the name tag. Style must be standardized throughout the installation. Grade (for enlisted members) and first and last name will be centered in block letters. A nickname may be used in lieu of the first name, but it must be in good taste. Include installation specifications for name tags in the installation supplement.

3.2.5.4. Position the US flag, or wing, group, or center emblem (approximately 3 by 3 1/2 inches), no lower than 1 inch below the shoulder seam. USAF Weapons School graduates are authorized to wear the weapons school graduate patch.

3.2.5.5. Position 3 by 3 1/2-inch vivid color squadron patch, flight patch, wing montage, or class patch no lower than 1 inch below the right shoulders seam; see Table 3.14 (Added). Personnel assigned to an echelon above wing level may wear the patch of the headquarters organization to which they are assigned (such as the numbered Air Force or Air University emblem), or a directorate patch. Center standardization/evaluation (stan/eval) emblems below the shoulder seam and attach to the squadron patch. Variations are authorized for personnel deployed or on special assignment with other commands. Style must be standardized throughout the organization.

3.2.5.6. Position vivid color parent unit or installation commander-approved special patches no lower than 1 inch from the shoulder seam on the left sleeve. Foreign/allied military members training with AETC units are authorized to wear their nations' 2 by 3 1/2-inch flag, in vivid color, in lieu of the US flag.

3.2.5.7. Vivid color 3 by 3-inch AETC command patch will be worn on right breast, centered and even with the name patch on the left breast of the uniform. A flying hour tab is not authorized above the AETC command patch.

3.2.5.8. Unit commanders may prescribe appropriate, distinctive unit-colored scarf or neckwear. If prescribed, wear is mandatory for all unit members. Wear around the neck tucked into the FDU. Do not wear while performing flight duties.

3.2.6. Installation commander may authorize unit-colored T-shirts for Friday wear. (Exception: Not authorized while flying cross-country.) Commanders must maintain close control over style and uniformity. Approved T-shirts will be listed in the installation supplement.
