

Management Development Certificate

Mission Statement

The Management Development Certificate program provides students with the opportunity to learn about the fundamentals of management and the importance of managerial functions within an organization. Students become familiar with methods through which managers acquire, control and utilize various resources to achieve organizational goals.

Student Learning Outcomes

UWF Management Development Certificate graduates should be able to do the following:

- Recognize the nature of management activity and practice, as well as the systems and contingency approaches to management.
- Recognize the challenges to organizations and management practice emanating from the globalization of business.
- Analyze managerial decision making problems.
- Articulate solutions to managerial problems.
- Recognize the organizational obligations regarding social responsibility and ethical behavior

Find out More about Management Development Certificate at UWF:

<https://uwf.edu/cob/departments/management-and-mis/certificate-programs/management-development/>